

Thank you so much for completing the course! I appreciate every single minute you spent with me here.

It's the last lecture and I want you to think about your experience in the course as steps to becoming a better penetration tester. How has this course changed your life in that regard?

- Has it transformed your views on how you should pentest in real life?
- Has it only had a small impact?
- Has it not changed your views at all?
- Are there choices you make on a day-to-day basis that are different than they were at the beginning of this course?

I would love hearing your precious feedback.

Further, I want to say that even if it's the last lecture in this course BUT it is not the end! I have planned big things for near future. Updates on Advanced Topics like Network Perimeter Testing, Hard-Difficulty Labs , More about Websites Hacking and so on, based on student's suggestions as well.

Plus be ready for many SURPRISES that I would bring in the course very soon.

My best wishes are with you always and I hope to continue this journey with you in another course soon ;)
